@24WPC2023

The World Petroleum Council (WPC) was formed in 1933. Today, it consists of approximately 60 member countries, representing more than 96% of the global oil and gas production and consumption. The WPC is a non-advocacy, non-political organisation with charitable status in the U.K. and has accreditation as a Non-Governmental Organisation (NGO) from the United Nations.

The WPC provides a platform for sharing technical innovations, scientific developments, and thought leadership across the industry, addressing social and environmental challenges with a commitment towards sustainable management and use of the world's petroleum resources for the benefit of all.

ABOUT THE COUNCIL

ABOUT THE CONGRESS

Every three years, the WPC hosts the prestigious World Petroleum Congress in one of its member countries. As a global strategic and technical gathering, the Congress attracts the biggest names from oil, gas and the rest of the energy industry to focus on delivering an accessible, affordable and secure energy transition.

The future of the entire sector will be examined under the lens of the path to net zero at the 24th World Petroleum Congress.

WHY CANADA

Canada is rich in petroleum reserves having the 3rd largest oil reserves and stands 4th in oil and gas production. A diverse array of geography from coast-to-coast provides an opportunity to develop other forms of energy including hydroelectricity, wind, solar and biofuels.

Canada is also a leader in hydrogen development, nuclear technology and carbon capture utilisation and storage (CCUS). Along with a strong clean tech industry, Canada is positioned to lead the way in all facets of the energy transition.

Attendees include government leaders, decision makers, and innovators from around the world.

Attendee Profile:

- Heads of state and energy ministers
- C-suite senior executives
- Policy makers and regulators
- Energy companies and related industries
- NOCs
- IOCs
- Service and technology providers
- Investors
- Industry associations
- Energy consultants
- Think tanks
- NGOs
- Young professionals and students

THEME:

ENERGY TRANSITION: THE PATH TO NET ZERO

From 17-21 September 2023, the 24th edition of the World Petroleum Congress will prove to be an important bridge between the traditional energy sector and a more carbon neutral industry over years to come. Many important conversations will happen in Calgary to help define realistic, workable paths to a net zero future.
